ENGLISH ROYALTY IN IRE-LAND.

Albert Edward, Prince of Wales.
Ireland's Latest Distinguished Visitor.

Some incidents of the visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales to Ireland are well known to every reader of the newspapers. While they and their son have been well received on the whole, expressions of disaffection and hatred of England, rule have not been wanting. Notably in Cork, the disaffected visitors received a welcome which represented the extremes of feeling, expressed with the heartiness which characterizes Irish sentiment. On the whole the royal visitors have been treated with respecting respect by the people generally as well as with the generosity and warmth which characterize the hospitality of those who entertained them at their homes.

While the Prince of Wales, in common with other mortals, has faults, want of tact and ready sagacity are not among them. He is exceptionally happy in his public appearance and addresses. The royal family could not be better, if as well represented by any person, as by the Prince, particularly in Ireland, where forbearance and tact are indispensable to prevent such hostile demonstrations as that which was not prevented at Cork.

The eldest son of Queen Victoria and her apparent to the throne of the United Kingdom, Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, was born on the 9th of November, 1841. His preparatory education was by private tutors.
After his University course he visited this country and Canada. This was in 1860, when he was only nineteen years of age. While he was in New York, the Sixty-ninth Regiment, which consists of Irishmen, refused to parade in his honor. After his return home he became a member of the military camp at Curragh, Ireland. In 1862 he made an extended trip to the East, including the Holy Land. He was married, on March 10, 1863, to the Princess Alexandra, daughter of Christian IX, King of Denmark. Five children, two sons and three daughters, have been born to the couple. The eldest, Prince Albert Victor, who lately attained his majority, accompanies his parents in Ireland. The Prince made a tour in Hindostan, in 1875-76. He has a beautiful country residence at Sandringham, Norfolk, where he lives the life of a country squire fond of the hunt and keeping old-fashioned hospitality. His seat in London is the resort of miscellaneous characters, including literary men, artists, etc.

The numerous titles borne by the Prince include that of Grandmaster in the order of Freemasonry. When the Marquis of Ripon became a Catholic and gave up Freemasonry, the Prince succeeded him in the Grand-mastership.

Beware of Mercury and Potash.

Mercury is more destructive to human health and life than any pesticide and is more common. So said a distinguished writer many years ago, and it is as true to-day as then. The poor victim of Blood Disease is drugged with Mercury to cure the malady, and then dosed with Iodides to cure him of the Mercurial Poisoning; but instead of any relief, the first breaks down his general health and makes him a cripple, and the other ruins his digestive organs.
Mercury and Potash are dangerous even when administered by directions and under the eye of a good physician, and when put up in nostrums, often by incompetent persons, are apt to produce evil consequences. Be careful of these poisonous mixtures or you may regret it. Swift's Specific is entirely a vegetable preparation, and should not be confounded with the various imitations, non secret humbly, "Sage's Alternans," etc., all of which either contain Mercury and Potash, or are composed of old remedies which have long since been discarded as of no value in the treatment of Blood Diseases, and none of them contain an article which enters into the composition of Swift's nothing in the world like it. Be sure to get the genuine.

Inflammatory Rheumatism.

I have been afflicted for nearly fourteen years with the severest form of inflammatory rheumatism. For a large portion of the time was confined to bed, and suffered the most excruciating pain, my legs badly swollen.
My case was thought incurable by the physicians, and I have often hoped that death would ensue and relieve me of pain. Last month I secured, at the suggestion of a friend, one dozen bottles of Swift's Specific, and after using about six bottles, I am entirely free from pain, the first time in nearly fourteen years. My joints are becoming more supple and the swelling gone. I am ready to answer any inquiries as to the fact in the case.

The Blue, the Gray and Grant.

BY T. C. HARRISON.

They sat together side by side,
In the shade of an orange tree;
One had followed the flag of Grant, The other had fought with Lee.

The boy in blue had an empty sleeve, A crease had the boy in gray;
They talked of the long and dreary march, They talked of the bloody fray.

"My chief is dead," the Johnny said, A leader brave was he;
And stretched forever at Lexington, Doth hang the sword of Lee."

"My leader lives!" the boy in blue Spoke loud with a sigh;
"But all the country waits in fear That he to day may die."

"God bless our Grant!" the veteran said, And dropped a tear and then In heartfelt tones the answer came,
For the rebel said—"Amen!"

OBITUARY.

Dr. W. A. Keith who formerly lived in the town of Crofton passed, a few days since, from the land of the living into the land of the living beyond. I knew him so much—so long—so intimately—so well—in boyhood the warp and woof of our lives were so interwoven; that in manhood I loved him as I have in the selfishness of my heart loved but few men. He was one of the few men that I knew well; and I am free to say he was one of the most noble men I ever met. I never knew a man who had less bitterness in his heart; who was more ready to overlook the shortcomings of his fellow-men—more ready to forget and forgive. He was God's noblest workman; an honest man—in my opinion no amount of money could have bought him; may not all the fleeting honors this world can bestow could have
